Recharge the Batteries

*When a flashlight starts to flicker or grow dim,
You don't throw it away. You change the batteries.*

When a person finds themselves in a dark place, you don't toss them aside. You help them charge their batteries.

*Someone might need a double AA - Attention and Affection;
or maybe a triple AAA - attention, affection and acceptance. Perhaps they need a C battery
- for Compassion; or how about a D - for direction. And after all that, if they still refuse to shine, simply sit with them quietly and share your light. Keep shining.*
