Kevin Hoy has just finished Year One of Pathways and has sent in this great recommendation for the Course

"Want to learn more about your faith in a positive and open environment? If so, Pathways may be for you. There are no exams, no homework, just others wishing to discuss, share and learn, with speakers on a range of interesting topics. I am starting second year shortly and very much looking forward to it. The course helps me develop my faith in an adult way. The lectures are good, but it is the group discussions that I find particularly energising. The group is a diverse bunch from around the Diocese, lots of differences of opinion but everything said and heard in a respectful and supportive environment.

Pathways is a Diocese of Dublin course organised by Clontarf resident Sr Eileen Houlahan CHF and taking place in Clonliffe College every Thursday night. Find out more by ringing Sr Eileen on 8379253 Ext 294 email: pathways@dublindiocese.ie or webpage: www.evangelisation.ie
